Stomach Bitters.

No. 26, South Second Street,

SAINT LOUIS, MISSOURI

This great Tonic has been introduced to the people of the Mississippi Valley for the past thirteen years with unbounded success and popularity.

There is nothing of the kind extant that equals it as a stimulant, an appetizer, or antidiabetic. It is particularly adapted to malarious districts and as a is not surpassed. It is endorsed by the best chemists as the most efficacious, strengthening Tonic this country has ever produced, the value of which will be recognized by all who may use them.

Preventative of Chills,

Private citizens of Arizona visiting St. Louis have expressed their convictions that it is peculiarly adapted to the wants of that Territory, and needs only a trial to insure its speedy introduction there.

Orders addressed to THE WEST INDIA MANUFACTURING COMPANY will be promptly executed.

I will pay $100 Reward for the arrest and conviction of any person or persons unlawfully handling cattle or horses in the above brands. Ear marks—both ears split, horns branded on left thigh with the same iron.

For the rate of interest, to be a lien on all property assessed and to attach on the first Monday in March.

Board of Supervisors, Municipal and School authorities, are directed to report to the commissioners their total indebtedness and they shall issue bonds upon official demand by such authorities, said authorities to pay to the Territory the amount of bonds when due, with interest annually.

Commissioners must report to the Governor all their proceedings. He shall transmit the same to the Legislature. Bonds are not to be taxed in this Territory.

Section 15, provides that nothing in this Act shall be construed to authorize any further increase of any indebtedness in excess of the limit prescribed by the Harrison Act, except to meet necessary running expenses until December 31, 1890, and thereafter no warrants, certificates or other evidence of indebtedness shall be allowed to issue or be legal where the same is in excess of said limits.

This puts the Territory, counties and cities on a cash basis after this year.—Prescott Courier.

Gold and Silver in the Navajo Country.

The Gallup, N. M., Elk says: "The prospecting party that left here on March 10th for the Carrizozo mountain, where glittering wealth was reported to be hidden, have returned to Gallup, dirty, fat and glad.

It must be remembered that this mountain of wealth has been strictly guarded by the Navajo tribe for many years, and the white man who dared to penetrate the secret treasure vaults of this generous mountain of wealth, took his life in his hand and considered himself fortunate if he could once more reach the "home base" and tell of what he saw.

It has been generally believed that in this mountain range was located the "Lost Adams diggings," but the mystery that surrounded this sacred (to the Navajos) mountain was never solved until the brave and determined pioneer boys that composed this hazardous expedition penetrated the heart of the Navajo country and lifted the veil from the golden wealth that has been so long hidden from the greedy eyes of the avaricious white man and which has been so closely guarded by his red brother.

The chief Black Horse, with a poorly organized war party, appeared upon the scene soon after the arrival of the prospectors, but the latter were well armed and fortified, and stood off the Indians. Troops from Fort Wingate, arrived in three or four days, however, and compelled the party to leave the reservation. "However, they succeeded in making a number of locations, and they brought back with them some of the finest specimens of silver and gold-bearing quartz we ever saw. The boys are elated over the prospects, yet they are not satisfied, as they believe there are millions of naked wealth undiscovered lying there for those who have the nerve to go after it." The reported discoveries are in Apache county, Arizona.

The St. Johns Herald says that the sheep-herding beef-eaters of Apache county are becoming very sharp now-days in hiding their work. They will kill a steer, strip the hide from one half the carcass, cut all the meat from the bones on the side skinned, turn the animal over so that the side unskinned will be uppermost and have the appearance of having been unmolested. Any one riding the range, coming across the carcass, would naturally think the animal had died a natural death, but if they were to take the trouble to investigate a little more closely, would find that half the hide, as well as half the meat was gone.

The manager of the railroad line projected from Yuma to San Diego, has returned to San Francisco from New York with the information that he has placed a sufficient number of the bonds to build the road.

Funding Act of Arizona.

The Governor, Auditor and Secretary are the Loan Commissioners, whose duty it is to prepare for the payment of a Territorial indebtedness by the issuance of bonds to run twenty years and bear interest not to exceed five (5) per cent, interest payable on January 15th; bonds to be sold by advertising one month purchase awarded to the person bidding the lowest rate of interest. Bonds are to be delivered to the Territorial Treasurer, who must give additional bond equal to the bonds delivered.

Commissioners are to state for what particular purposes the bonds are issued and Treasurer gives notice same as for redemption of warrants.

The rate of tax to pay interest, to be fixed by the Territorial Board of Equalization or the Auditor, to be a lien on all property assessed and to attach on the first Monday in March.

Board of Supervisors, Municipal and School authorities, are directed to report to the commissioners their total indebtedness and they shall issue bonds upon official demand by such authorities, said authorities to pay to the Territory the amount of bonds when due, with interest annually.

The Bent Family.

The New York Herald publishes the following account of William Bent and his children. William Bent was a brother of Charles Bent, whom General Kearney appointed provisional governor of New Mexico, at the time of the conquest, by the United States, of the province of Mexico: "Old man Bent I never became intimately acquainted with, as he died only a few months after I first saw him although I had been on the plains for a long period before I happened to meet the proprietor of the fort on the Upper Arkansas, whose name the new dilapidated old adobe structure still bears.

He and John Smith were the only two of all the great number of prominent frontiersmen who married squaws. The others were wedded to either American, French or Spanish women, and their families were eminently respectable.

Uncle John Smith made no effort to educate his children—they were savages from their birth and remained so. One, a son, was killed by the troops in the "Chivington massacre" on Sand Creek, Colorado, which was a source of grief from which the old trapper never fully recovered.

Bent was determined that his son and daughter, Charles and Julia, should have the best education money could obtain—he was sadly deficient himself—so he sent them to St. Louis when mere children, surrounding
